

Fluxergy Webinar Series Calendar 2022

Learn about industry trends, new innovative technologies, and improving diagnostic care from leading experts and key opinion leaders.

Date & Time	Topic	Host	Description
July 13, 2022 8 am PT   11 am ET	What We Learned from 1,000 Salmonella Tests	Dr. Pramod Naranatt, PhD, PMP  Associate Director of Molecular Assay Development at Fluxergy	The Fluxergy R&D team dives into performance data and common hurdles to Point-of-Care Salmonella PCR testing. Learn how to maximize your Salmonella testing and get better results.
July 27, 2022 7:30 am PT   10:30 am ET	5 Keys to Good Laboratory Practice when Conducting PCRs and Testing Feces	Samantha Barnum, MS  UC Davis PCR Lab Manager	UC Davis PCR Lab Manager and experienced researcher Samantha Barnum, MS, gives an introduction on how to manage lab cleanliness, process, and potentially infectious samples in your POC PCR laboratory. She also will dive into considerations when using feces as a sample type for PCR testing.
September 14, 2022 4:30 pm PT   7:30 pm ET	Lessons Learned While Resolving a Salmonella Outbreak in a Veterinary Teaching Hospital	Dr. Josie L. Traub-Dargatz MS, DACVIM  Dr. Ben Buchanan DACVIM, DACVECC	Dr. Josie L. Traub-Dargatz MS, DACVIM & Dr. Ben Buchanan DACVIM, DACVECC will highlight lessons learned from the investigation and mitigation of a Salmonella outbreak that occurred in a veterinary teaching hospital. It will include a summary of the challenges faced by those who were charged with resolving the outbreak that had led to two closures of the veterinary hospital. The presentation will be followed by discussion of ongoing efforts in to prevent outbreaks of Salmonella in equine veterinary hospitals.